

PCT - Patient Care Technician Practice Test Questions and Answers

1. Wound dehiscence refers to:

- A) Separation of wound edges after closure
- B) Redness and warmth spreading around a wound
- C) Yellow purulent discharge from a wound
- D) Intact sutures with minimal surrounding swelling

2. NPO means the patient should:

- A) Have nothing by mouth
- B) Eat only pureed foods
- C) Drink only clear liquids
- D) Avoid all sodium in meals

3. What does wound tunneling indicate?

- A) The wound is nearly healed
- B) The wound extends beneath the skin surface
- C) Healthy tissue regeneration is occurring
- D) The wound is too dry and needs moisture

4. Enteral nutrition is delivered via:

- A) An intravenous catheter into the bloodstream
- B) A feeding tube directly into the gastrointestinal tract
- C) Oral supplements taken by mouth
- D) A subcutaneous injection under the skin

Answers: 1-A 2-A 3-B 4-B

For More PCT - Patient Care Technician Questions and Answers FREE, PCT - Patient Care Technician Online Prep Training, PCT - Patient Care Technician Exam, PCT - Patient Care Technician Study Guide, PCT - Patient Care Technician Flashcards, PCT - Patient Care Technician Quizzes visit:

PCT - Patient Care Technician Practice Test